

What the Bible says

Lesson 8

The Seventh Commandment

Mark only those statements which are true:

1. Gambling and betting are all right when used to make money for the church.
2. The 7th Commandment forbids cheating of any kind, including in school.
3. Loafing on the job is a form of stealing & forbidden by God.
4. Our money belongs only to us, and no one should tell us how to use.
5. A Christian will want to use his money as a good steward of the gifts God has entrusted to him.
6. Money is the root of all evil. (see 1 Timothy 6:10)
7. The 7th Commandment gives people the right to own their own property.

The Eighth Commandment

Cross out those statements which are false:

1. God does not forbid the telling of little “white lies” since this is always just done in fun.
2. A Christian should speak up for the person who is not present to defend himself.
3. We should always think the worst first.
4. The breaking of the 8th Commandment may begin with our imagining that our neighbor did wrong.
5. Gossip is forbidden by the 8th Commandment.
6. Breaking of the 8th Commandment is very rare today.
7. The 8th Commandment is easy to keep because most people only want to hear good things about others.
8. The person who talks about all the good things his neighbor has done is keeping the 8th Commandment.

The Ninth and Tenth Commandments

Mark True (T) or False (F):

1. All sins begin in the heart.
2. The desires of a sinful heart are sins themselves.
3. Coveting something is not as bad in God’s eyes as stealing it.
4. Covetousness often begins because a person has become discontented.
5. God does not care so much what we think in our hearts as what we do in our lives.
6. The way to keep these 2 commandments is to be content with what we have and to help our neighbor keep what he has.
7. Most people in the world will easily recognize that coveting is a serious sin.
